

“This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men.”

(Daniel 4:17)

Basest Of Men

The multitude of news agencies are delivering what can only be described as a flood of propaganda, some true, some false, many times a combination of the two. As one person wrote us recently and commented, “so many voices”.

We, at 'People of the Keys' are reminded of a verse out of Daniel 4:17:

“This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men.”

The English Standard Version instead of using the basest used the word, “lowliest of men”.

The English translation of the Greek Septuagint uses the term:

“...will set up over it that which is set at nought of men”.

'Nought' when used in this context according to Definitions.net means

“ a thing or person of no worth or value; nil, good for nothing; worthless, wicked, immoral”.

Except for the very rare exception, the type of people that rule the nations of this world today could be described as having base, low, good for nothing, wicked, and immoral personality traits.

Now is it any wonder the world is in the state it is in today. Not only that, these people are not necessarily working in cooperation with one another but in competition with each other.

Daniel 11:27 is a perfect example of this:

“And both these kings' hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table.” This verse is speaking of the antichrist and one of his adversaries. Isn't it amazing how politicians today even talk about coming to the table or bringing to the table or sitting at the table.”

Jesus, when speaking to the scribes and Pharisees in Matthew, chapter twenty-three, described this situation perfectly when He said:

“Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.”

Many of these people are even described as public servants.

When the disciples of Jesus were arguing as to whom would be the greatest amongst them Jesus made it very clear in Luke, twenty-two, how this was to work.

“And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be accounted the greatest.

And he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them are called benefactors. But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve.

For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth.”

Is it any wonder why Jesus will have to rule with a rod of iron, during His thousand year reign, the millennium, over the nations that remain of the world. Psalm 2

From –Albert Einstein, 1949:

“Private capital tends to become concentrated in few hands, partly because of competition among the capitalists and partly because technological development and the increasing division of labor encourage the formation of larger units of production at the expense of smaller ones. The result of these developments is an oligarchy of private capital, the enormous power of which cannot be effectively checked even by a democratically organized political society. This is true since the members of legislative bodies are selected by political parties, largely financed or otherwise influenced by private capitalists who, for all practical purposes, separate the electorate from the legislature. The consequence is that the representatives of the people do not in fact sufficiently protect the interests of the underprivileged sections of the population. Moreover, under existing conditions, private capitalists inevitably control, directly or indirectly, the main sources of information (press, radio, education). It is thus extremely difficult, and indeed in most cases quite impossible, for the individual citizen to come to objective conclusions and to make intelligent use of his political rights.”

He is coming soon to set up His Godly government based on Godly truth and fair principals.
